GOOD FARE IN CARMEL — In medieval England it was the custom to begin all great Christmas feasts by solemn ceremony of bringing in the boar's head as the initial dish. Suzanne Platel pours a goblet of wine next to a boar's head which will be featured at this Friday night's Preview of "39 Craftsmen Bring Christmas" (See Story page 2). The dressing of the boar's head is garnished and garlanded with rosemary and laurel, and lemons between its grinning chops. The custom started in pre-Christian days, but is still kept alive. The Druids

Pine Cone Photo by Roger Fremier killed a boar at winter solstice and offered its head in sacrifice to Freya, the goddess of peace and plenty, who was supposed to ride upon a boar with golden bristles. Hence it was not unusual even in Christian times to gild the head. The lemon placed in the boar's mouth was a Norse symbol of plenty. A chant precedes the eating:

The boar's head in hand bring I,
With garlands gay and rosemary,
I pray you all syng merely,

Wild, wide selection of gifts at '39 Craftsmen' show

It's property tax-paying time again-- Wednesday

BY GUNNAR NORBERG

Next Wednesday — Dec. 10 — is a day of tax reckoning for property tax payers throughout Monterey County.

By 5 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, the first installment of the 1969-70 property tax must be in the office of the county tax collector in the courthouse in Salinas — if you are to avoid serious penalties imposed for tax-payment delay.

And, for many, next week's tax blow will be harder than it was last year, even though this year home-owners will benefit by a new $750 tax-assessment allowance. This is because property tax rates throughout Monterey County are generally higher this year than they were last year. (Principal benefactors of the $750 property tax exemption are owners of the most modest priced homes for whom the tax exemption represents a substantial portion of their entire assessed valuation.

Even after all the $750 per-home-owner tax exemptions and after the 15 percent reduction in business inventory tax, are subtracted, the remaining assessed valuations upon which this year's higher tax rates apply are a million dollars higher than they were in the preceding tax year. (The 1969-70 county assessment roll stands at nearly $98 million, while the 1968-69 one was just a little below $97 million.

CBA windows to be judged

The Carmel Business Association announces the annual Christmas window decorating contest.

Besides the charm of this annual event there are three prizes.

First, a three year membership in CBA; second a two year membership, and third, a one year membership.

Windows must be finished by the 5th of December. Judging will take place between the 8th and 9th. The presentation of prizes will be the night of the illumination of the Plaza Christmas Tree, on Dec. 15th.

Retail co-chairmen for CBA are Gordon Robertson and Henri Corbat.

Judges are Elwood Graham, president of the Art Association, Mary Barter, out-going president of the CBA, Barney Laiolo, Mayor, and David Hunter, new board member.

dollars.)

What are those higher tax rates this tax year?

In the City of Carmel, the property tax rate is one-tenth of a cent more than $8.23 per $100.00 of assess valuation. This is a little more than 23½ cents higher than it was last year.

Where did the component tax takes increase?

The City tax rate rose from $1.26 to $1.31 per $100 of assessed valuation. Then there was a jump in the County tax rate — from $2.03 last year to $2.32 this year. The county library tax (paid by no other city on the Peninsula except Carmel) increased by two-tenths of a cent, to .062.

The basic Monterey College tax rate jumped from 49 cents to nearly 54 cents per $100, while the Carmel Sanitary District tax rate increased from 29 to 41 cents.

Except for the Monterey College tax rate increase, other regular education tax rates were reduced. The rate for the Carmel Unified School district dropped from $2.90 to a little less than $2.73 for example.

Certain school-connected tax rates, however, increased. One little-understood one — the so-called county school equalization aid offset tax — rose from a little less than 12½ cents to 14 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

This equalization aid offset tax will take about $135,000 of tax money out of the pockets of Carmel Unified School district taxpayers. This will become part of a tax fund which is distributed to other school districts in the county which are considered, according to an established state formula, to be less prosperous than the Carmel district.

This rich-versus-poor school district concept does not have even its usual limited relevance here in the Carmel area, because there are often rich and poor living right next door to each other here.

People on limited fixed-income who bought their retirement homes here many years ago find their assessments constantly increased, often to a point where they are forced by growing property tax burdens to sell at sacrifice prices and leave. Such persons are frequently those who have made the most substantial and the most selfless contributions to the maintenance of its special character which the Carmel area has established for

Ann Agee is only woman at Police Academy in Gilroy

Carmel Policewoman Mrs. Ann Agee is attending the 16th Basic Police Class conducted by the Central Coast Counties Police Academy in cooperation with Gavilan College in Gilroy.

Mrs. Agee will be honored, along with other graduating patrolmen, deputy sheriffs and wardens at a dinner on Dec. 12 at the Gilroy Elks Club with chief deputy Attorney General of California, Charles A. O'Brien as the speaker of the evening.

The young peace officers will have completed the 280-hour basic course required for all California law officers by the Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training of the Department of Justice. The curriculum includes academic, field and physical training and covers a wide range of subjects.

from Penal Code to police-community relations.

The thirty graduates represent fifteen law enforcement jurisdictions primarily from the central coast area, but including men from Mono County Sheriff's Department and the Department of Fish and Game.

Although the only woman in the group, Mrs. Agee has had no difficulty in keeping up with her male colleagues in a course which included night combat firing and hand to hand combat training.

The graduation dinner on Dec. 12 commences with no-host cocktails at 6:30 p.m. The dinner is open to the public and reservations may be made by calling or writing the Police Academy at Gavilan College, 5055 Santa Theresa Blvd., Gilroy 95020. Phone 842-8221, Ext. 37.

Letter To The Editor

Editor, Pine Cone:

Enjoy solving difficult problems? Put yourself in the Pentagon's shoes, and see if you can do the following: (1) Figure out a way to legally bring to trial accused participants in the Vietnam atrocities who are no longer in the service. (2) Thoroughly investigate all the charges without allowing the investigation to reach above a certain level or into the Pentagon itself. (3) Convince the silent majority that the critics are helping Hanoi more than the Pentagon's policies are.

I am surprised that a few hundred atrocity killings should create such furor. For years our artillery and bomber crews have been receiving medals for wiping out villages (Viet Cong strongholds), and women and children were included in the daily "enemy" body count reports . . .

Actually, the Army has no legal or moral right to try itself for its crimes, which are no different from crimes that were tried by international tribunal Nuernberg in 1945-6. These crimes were committed in a foreign country and no American court can claim

DMV enacts new snowmobile regulations

California sportsmen may not use snowmobiles to pursue, drive or herd any game bird, game mammal or fur bearing mammal under a new law effective this month.

The Department of Fish and Game said fish and game wardens will enforce the prohibition, violation of which is punishable by a maximum $500 fine and six months in jail.

"Several of the midwestern states have had problems with illegal pursuit and harassment on snowmobiles of deer and other game animals on their winter ranges," said Ray Arnett, Director of the Department of Fish and Game. "Thus far, we haven't had any serious problems in California, and I urge our sportsmen to cooperate with us in seeing that none develop."

The DFG also reminds owners of the snow vehicles that they are required to purchase a $5 identification plate from the Department of Motor Vehicles before snowmobiles are operated this winter. Owners may apply for the plates by taking papers to the nearest DMV office showing that he has bought or is buying the machine.

WACMP meeting postponed to Jan.

Because he has been asked by his government to join its United Nations delegation during the month of December, The Honorable K.S. Bajpai, Consul General of India, has postponed his scheduled appearance before the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula from Dec. 4 until Jan. 8.

As a result, there will be no meeting of the Council in the month of December.

Bernard Van Horne, president of the World Affairs group, cordially invites the public to attend the Jan. 8 session in Carmel High School's Brey Hall beginning at 8 p.m. There is no charge.

jurisdiction. If foreign troops were in America murdering our women and children, it is unlikely we would consider a trial in a foreign country appropriate.

So, some myths are exploded. We are not in Vietnam to save the people from atrocities. Our Army's dismal failure at "covering up" is a blow to our image. Our growing disregard of the value of human life will reserve us a place in history alongside Hitler's Nazis. And worst of all, it took 40,000 dead American young men before the awful stupidity of the whole program finally came home to roost.

Letter to Editor:

From time to time I read letters on the opinion page referring to hippies in Carmel. I can understand the feelings of these members of the public, both those living within and outside our city limits. However, I feel it is necessary to let these people, as well as the public at large, know what the city has done already and what they, the people, might do to help the city and themselves

To date we have established ordinances regulating lying down and sleeping on the grass in city-owned parks and parkways, obstructing sidewalk traffic, and the use of profanity on public streets. We have been challenged on these ordinances, but to date the decisions handed down have been in our favor.

Due to the existing State and Federal laws and their interpretation by the courts, the handling of these problems has been most difficult. State laws preempt city laws in many cases, limiting what we can control for ourselves. I hope that anyone who wishes to do something about our unwholesome problem will take just a few minutes to write to their Congressmen and Senators, and even to the President, urging a reinstatement of the loitering and vagrancy laws. People who are concerned should express their opinions where they will do some good, to their legislators.

Sincerely,
BARNEY LAILO

matter" for persons under the age of 18, setting up a different standard of obscenity for children. In this way, operators of outlets selling hard-core pornography will think twice about allowing minors access to certain books as the law would make sellers of harmful matter subject to jail sentencing.

The very heart of the pornography controversy is a basic difference between two diverse viewpoints. First, that pornography is an evil and a menace especially to the young either for moral, spiritual or health reasons.

The other viewpoint that pornography inflicts no harm and may even be therapeutic.

Oddly enough, some backers of both arguments tend to agree on one thing that the peak has been reached and pornography is on the decline.

Law enforcement officials say this is because of stricter enforcement and smut dealers say that after everything has been done, where do you go from there.

In either case it is hoped that the new laws will go far to keep such material from the hands of youngsters.

This is the season of Thanksgiving and I would like to take this opportunity to tell you that, although my family and I have many things for which to be thankful, I think that one of the greatest things I have to be thankful for is the opportunity to represent people like yourselves.

I hope in the year ahead God will give me strength to make my decisions based upon sound reasoning and not based upon triggered emotionalism.

Tax time again-- itself!

And beside — as Harold Arnot, Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers' Association president, cogently points out — it is time, and past time, to take the heavy property tax load off the sagging backs of home owners generally. The obvious reason for this is that home ownership is no equitable yardstick to use for measuring justifiable tax-paying ability.

Taxes on earnings and taxes on spending would be more equitable types of taxation from which to glean the large tax funds to pay for both education and welfare, because they would bear some reasonable relationship to valid ability to pay. Despite a reduced local school tax rate, taxpayers in the City of Carmel will pay out nearly half their whole property tax for education, while more than a third of the entire county tax rate is charged directly to welfare!

As has been suggested here before, a better way to finance the great and growing cost of education would be the imposition of a sales tax increase of the same kind that is now collected by the state and then disbursed back directly to the cities and counties from which those taxes are derived. This assumes that most staple foods and required medicines would remain exempt, as they are now, from sales tax.

There is another tax reform that remains as urgently needed in California as it has ever been — perhaps even more now than it has been in the recent past. That is a reduction, and a drastic reduction, in the number of tax units which have the power to impose new or additional property taxes.

In addition to the County of Monterey, the various cities, and the school districts, there are 90 other so-called "special districts" for which property taxes are collected in Monterey County — and this is two more such districts than there were a year ago.

The ordinary voter and taxpayer just cannot keep track of all the almost innumerable board meetings at which these "special district" tax rates are decided and set. He has his hands full just to keep some modest track of what city councils, boards of supervisors and school boards are doing. There are, in fact, those who believe that all local government functions should be limited exclusively to city councils within cities, and just to the county board of supervisors for all areas outside of city limits, and there could be good arguments made for such a point of view!

CHORAL SOLOIST—Soprano Norma Jean Hodges, well known Peninsula singer, will appear with Monterey Peninsula Choral Society at Carmel Mission Basilica Dec. 13 & 14 at 8 p.m. Mrs. Hodges is a graduate of Northwestern University School of Music and has appeared with the Bach Festival, Monterey County Symphony, San Francisco Civic Light Opera, and Chicago and Cincinnati Symphony Orchestras. She was soloist with the Choral Society in their 1967 "Messiah" performance and last year's Christmas performance of Haydn's "Creation."

Mission is scene of Choral Society's Xmas concert

Norma Jean Hodges, soprano, will appear with the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society and Monterey Chamber Orchestra in their seventh annual Christmas Concert at Carmel Mission Basilica Dec. 13 & 14 at 8 p.m.

Under the baton of Maestro Haymo Taeuber, the Choral Society will perform Joseph Haydn's "Theresa Mass" and other music of Christmas.

Other soloists for the mass are Glenna Deweese, contralto; Meree Moore, tenor; and Christopher Hungerland, bass.

The Chamber Orchestra will perform the "Christmas Concerto, Op. 6, No. 8" by Corelli and the String Orchestra the "Abdelazar Suite" by Henry Purcell.

Tickets for the concerts are available at the Carmel Central Box Office, the Symphony Office in Sunset Center, or write the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society, Box 272, Carmel, and please specify date preferred.

CO-CHAIRMAN...for the "Christmas Kitchen" to be held at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, are at left, Mrs. Thomas Baxter and Mrs. Charles Pearson. Dates for the event are Friday, Dec. 12 and Saturday, Dec. 13, both days are from 10 to 4.

Community Church will hold annual 'Christmas Kitchen'

All those delectable holiday foods for which the Filia Circle of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula is noted, will be available at the group's annual sale, to be called "A Christmas Kitchen," held at the church on Dec. 12 and 13 from 10 to 4.

The event will be under the joint chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Pearson and Mrs. Thomas Baxter, who have been busy overseeing the preparation of hundreds of jars of jellies, relishes, preserves and shelled walnuts.

Candies, fruit cakes, cookies and home-made pies will be prepared for the sale and special gift packages will be available, along with kitchen items, such as recipes, aprons, table decors, pot-holders, and kitchen equipment.

A special feature of both days will be the cooking and serving, by Mrs. Willis Shepard and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, of hot German donuts, which will be served with coffee.

'Pageant of Bells' at Rancho Center

At Carmel Rancho Shopping Center Woody Woodpecker, Donald Duck, Mickey Mouse, Chip 'n Dale, Pluto and special features of Our Gang, Little Rascals, and Laurel and Hardy are some of the free cartoon and comedies that will provide enjoyable and supervised entertainment for children of 5 and over, while shoppers explore the colorful enchantment of The Pageant of Bells.

ACCENT ON ART

THEATRE ARTS-GERTRUDE CHAPPELL

In today's language the term "lady" has almost lost its meaning except in reference to English nobility.

It used to mean a certain type of woman—the ideal of proper, acceptable, desirable femininity, a term of approbation in the strictest sense of the word—"Lady" with a capital "L".

Gertrude Chappell is one of the Peninsula's outstanding actresses, a veritable "First Lady" of the theater as well as a perfect "Lady" otherwise—and please, with a capital "L."

In her 16 years residence in Carmel, Miss Chappell has played virtually every Little Theater, Big Theater, Tiny Theater, Medium Sized Theater, on the Peninsula with the exception of the military drama groups.

In her own words, "I've played them all—the Wharf, the Forest (upstairs in the fog and downstairs in the Theater-in-the-Ground), the First Theater, Studio, Sunset Auditorium and the Circle."

She has played the entire gamut of parts from bits to leads; from comedy to low farce to high comedy to mysteries to stark drama.

Her unqualified, outstanding success was as Eleanor of Aquitaine in the Circle Theater production of "The Lion In Winter" opposite Roy Baxter.

"This is without a doubt the greatest role ever written for a woman, and it provided me with the most thrilling moment of my career in the theater," Miss Chappell says.

Miss Chappell was born in Masters Concert K-Wave Stereo 96.9

The following major works will be featured on the Masters Concert during the week of December 4, 1969:

Thursday, Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. Goldmark — Rustic Wedding Symphony, Opus 26; 10 p.m., Prokofieff — Concerto for Piano No. 4 (Left Hand).

Friday, Dec. 5 at 8 p.m., Berlioz — Harold in Italy; 10 p.m., Hindemith — Mathis der Maler.

Monday, Dec. 8 at 8 p.m., Brahms — Symphony No. 1 in C Minor, Opus 68; 10 p.m., R. Wagner — Overture and Venusberg Music from "Tannhauser".

Tuesday, Dec. 9 at 8 p.m., Beethoven — Sonata No. 29, Opus 106; 10 p.m., Schoenberg — Wind Quintet, Opus 26.

Wednesday, Dec. 10 at 8 p.m., Mozart — Concerto No. 26 in D Major for Piano & Orchestra; 10 p.m., Dvorak — String Quartet in D Minor, Opus 34.

Parks stay open

All California state parks and recreation areas will be open to the public on Christmas and New Year's Days, but the historical buildings and museums of most state historical units will be closed.

State Parks and Recreation Director Will Penn Mott Jr. said that the only exception to the closure of historical unit buildings and museums will be San Francisco Maritime State Historic Park, which will remain open during both holidays.

Colorado Springs, attended schools in Southern California, Iowa and Ohio. She started college at Oberlin in Ohio, then graduated from the University of Iowa majoring in all things, in drama.

Her theatrical training began with ballet lessons at seven, continued in her local Presbyterian Church with dramatic productions to illustrate vespers services, and was highlighted by her playing, at 10 years of age, the Virgin Mary.

After graduation from Iowa, Miss Chappell came west and began banging futilely at Hollywood's closed doors. She moved in with a sister and began making appearances in Community Theaters in the area.

With four other aspiring actors and actresses, she formed a production company, writing skits, doing dances, small plays—anything that could be done in a living room. She gained an agent from these efforts, and from him came her only movie part. She played Edna Mae Oliver's daughter in "Pride and Prejudice."

Marriage followed and prior to her husband's retirement from the U.S. Navy they lived in Annapolis, New Orleans, Portsmouth, (Va.) Los Angeles, Tsingtao, China, Moscow (Idaho, that is) and Guam.

Their daughter Caren made all these "ports" and son Mark was born in Guam.

Caren is now with IBM in Nairobi, Kenya, and Mark is a freshman at UC Santa Cruz, where he is majoring in biology and pursuing his hobby of bird-watching and photography.

They chose the Monterey Peninsula for retirement for several obvious reasons, such as nearby government medical and commissary facilities, the beauty and easy climate of the area and the active little theaters.

Aside from theatre she is active in the Auxiliary of the Community Hospital and enjoys sewing, reading, music and sporadic bouts of gardening. But theatre remains her first love.

FANTASTIC ROLE—Gertrude Chappell insists that the role of Eleanor in "The Lion in Winter" is the greatest role ever created for a woman. In her appearance in the Circle Theater production of the play, Miss Chappell designed and made the costumes for her part as Eleanor, and she demonstrates the regal quality of the queenly robes with a queenly gesture in the appropriate Gothic archway of Sunset Auditorium.

ELEANOR—The supercilious, haughty look of a queen was done so well by Gertrude Chappell in her performance as Eleanor of Aquitaine in "The Lion in Winter" as she wreaked her wrath on her three sons.

MOOD CHANGE—But here is Gertrude Chappell as the happy, contented wife of a retired Navy officer...a woman who delights in the theater, playing any role for which she feels she is suited...who dabbles in needlework, is involved in the community, has a green thumb in her garden...but with it all admits her heart always belongs to the theater.

Lynnea lands movie role

A year ago last summer, Ray Aghayan and Bob Mackie two costume designers for the film "Gaily Gaily" were working at Goldwyn Studios. Suddenly one turned to the other and said, "You know who would be great for this part? Lynnea!"

Sounds like a scene from an old musical doesn't it? But it really happened to Lynnea Larson, daughter of Roy and Jean Larson of Carmel.

Lynn, a costume designer for the "Andy Williams," "Laugh In," and "Dean Martin" shows had studied with Aghayan and Mackie at Pasadena Playhouse. The designers set up an interview for Lynnea with Norman Jewison, the director of the film. The next day she was notified that she had the job.

Lynnea's film debut began in an old Milwaukee graveyard full of mosquitos. She spent two weeks in Milwaukee filming a funeral sequence and other location work. Then she returned to Hollywood for five more weeks of filming.

Lynnea will play Cissy, a member of Queen Lil's "Maison de Joie" in the picture starring Melina Mercouri and Brian Keith. "Gaily Gaily" will be released in mid December.

Lynnea had been active in Little Theater work on the Peninsula before leaving for Hollywood. Her interest in acting began at MPC where she worked with Morgan Stock and received a scholarship to Pasadena Playhouse.

Glasers home from Jamaica

Back from a holiday of sun and swimming in the West Indies are Toni Glaser and Joanne Godwin of Carmel whose husbands, Jim Glaser Jr. and Bill Godwin surprised them with a two week trip to Jamaica last month.

Toni reports that she and Joanne were in for two days after her husband and Bill Godwin announced at a cocktail party that they were leaving for Jamaica that night at 8 p.m. The husbands had packed bags and brought traveling outfits for their wives as well as taking care of last minute details before the trip.

The travelers stayed with Jim Glaser's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jacque Winnett of New York. They were joined by Toni's sister, Carmen, who was similarly surprised by her husband Jack Wicks. The Wicks flew in from Minneapolis.

After an overnight stay in Miami, tennis, sunbathing and serenades by Calypso singers at Montego Bay, the two couples returned home to Carmel just in time to begin preparations for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Domino play at Del Monte draws crowds

More than 100 domino enthusiasts gathered at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach, last Saturday for the 6th Annual Golden Domino Tournament.

The event, which benefits the Peninsula Chapter of the Monterey Symphony Guild, was won by General Robert Howze, Carmel, and Mrs. Lee Manuel, Pebble Beach.

Mrs. Oslane Dyreson and Mrs. Evelyn Garetson, both of Carmel, were the winners of the new "Dabbler" division for novices. Their prize is dinner for 8 at a Mark Thomas restaurant.

First to "skunk" were Harold Larson of Pacific Grove and Rod Dewar of Pebble Beach. They were promptly awarded cabbages.

The door prize, a pastel portrait donated by outstanding California artist, Erling Roberts, was won by Mr. Gordon W. Dennis of Atherton.

Turkey tid-bits

Mary Barron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Barron of Yankee Point, flew home after a week visiting friends at UC Santa Barbara, Los Angeles and San Diego. She arrived in time to welcome home her brother, Jerry, a student in the school of law at the University of San Francisco, who arrived for the Thanksgiving holidays.

The Barrons had as their dinner guests Thanksgiving day two students from the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies where Betty Barry is public relations staff member. Guests were Mlle. Francoise Meral, Rotary international scholarship winner from France and Charles Burridge Jr., a student of political science at the Institute.

The Barrons were paid a surprise visit by Michael Gromes, formerly of Carmel and now a student at San Francisco State.

Saturday the Barrons held open house for friends of Mary and Jerry enroute home after the holidays.

Recent guests from Carmel and Pebble Beach at the Santa Barbara Biltmore were Mr. and Mrs. Snideman of Pebble Beach and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Moore of Carmel.

Visitors to Santa Barbara during the Thanksgiving holidays included Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, residents of Pebble Beach.

CRAFT CORNER — Jacquelyn Smith gives students at Carmel Woods School some instruction on the fine points of weaving in the school library's craft corner. Weaving is one of the projects that serve as an adjunct to the library's chief function of bringing children and books together and interesting children in all methods of learning. Other student involvement activities include a record listening center, a viewing area for filmstrips and a social studies corner that features a bulletin board of the children's own design.

Lynnea lands movie role

A year ago last summer, Ray Aghayan and Bob Mackie two costume designers for the film "Gaily Gaily" were working at Goldwyn Studios. Suddenly one turned to the other and said, "You know who would be great for this part? Lynnea!"

Sounds like a scene from an old musical doesn't it? But it really happened to Lynnea Larson, daughter of Roy and Jean Larson of Carmel.

Lynn, a costume designer for the "Andy Williams," "Laugh In," and "Dean Martin" shows had studied with Aghayan and Mackie at Pasadena Playhouse. The designers set up an interview for Lynnea with Norman Jewison, the director of the film. The next day she was notified that she had the job.

Lynnea's film debut began in an old Milwaukee graveyard full of mosquitos. She spent two weeks in Milwaukee filming a funeral sequence and other location work. Then she returned to Hollywood for five more weeks of filming.

Lynnea will play Cissy, a member of Queen Lil's "Maison de Joie" in the picture starring Melina Mercouri and Brian Keith. "Gaily Gaily" will be released in mid December.

Lynnea had been active in Little Theater work on the Peninsula before leaving for Hollywood. Her interest in acting began at MPC where she worked with Morgan Stock and received a scholarship to Pasadena Playhouse.

Glasers home from Jamaica

Back from a holiday of sun and swimming in the West Indies are Toni Glaser and Joanne Godwin of Carmel whose husbands, Jim Glaser Jr. and Bill Godwin surprised them with a two week trip to Jamaica last month.

Toni reports that she and Joanne were in for two days after her husband and Bill Godwin announced at a cocktail party that they were leaving for Jamaica that night at 8 p.m. The husbands had packed bags and brought traveling outfits for their wives as well as taking care of last minute details before the trip.

The travelers stayed with Jim Glaser's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jacque Winnett of New York. They were joined by Toni's sister, Carmen, who was similarly surprised by her husband Jack Wicks. The Wicks flew in from Minneapolis.

After an overnight stay in Miami, tennis, sunbathing and serenades by Calypso singers at Montego Bay, the two couples returned home to Carmel just in time to begin preparations for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Warmest regards.

Give someone (or yourself) the comfort of an electric blanket this year. Single or dual controls let you dial the temperature you like. Sleep better with an electric blanket that gives you warmth without weight. Electric blankets are washable, come in a variety of colors, and are available in all bed sizes. PGWE

Charlene Wallace weds Dennis Maguet in P.G.

The First Methodist Church of Pacific Grove was the setting for the marriage of Charlene Louise Wallace and Dennis Frank Maguet. The Rev. Edgar Weakland officiated at the 1 p.m. ceremony.

Charlene is the daughter of Mrs. Hector De Smet Jr. of Pacific Grove and Wenda Wallace of Palm Desert. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke A. Pippitt of Pacific Grove and Mr. and Mrs. Alton J. Ohlson of Pomona.

The bride has three sisters, Mrs. Bill Conlin (Linda De Smet), Christine Wallace and Allison Wallace. They and her brother, Larry Wallace, reside in Texas.

Dennis is the brother of Glenn Maguet of San Mateo. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maguet of Pacific Grove.

The bride wore a wedding dress and veil designed and made by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Frank Maguet. The gown of white velvet chiffon was overlaid with reembroidered lace on the sleeves and bodice and had an embossed lace train. Her three-tiered lace-edged veil was held by a cluster of petals trimmed with iridescent teardrop brilliants. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

The bride's uncle, J.W. Sharp of Salinas, escorted her to the altar and her honor attendant was her sister, Holly De Smet of Santa Clara. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Steve Donahue (Debbie Kraintz) of San Diego and Mrs. Kerry Kruse (Joan Hyler) of Pacific Grove.

Junior bridesmaids were Becky De Smet, the bride's sister, and Cindy Burns of Torrance, her cousin.

The bride's youngest

Sen. Fred Farr marries

Former State Senator Fred S. Farr has married Dolores Lawrence Toombs, who until recently was assistant to the associate editor of Washington D.C. York Times.

The ceremony was performed by Justice Richard M. Sims of the State District Court of Appeals at the home of former Ambassador to Mexico, Fulton Freeman.

The bride was escorted up a flower-lined path from the Freeman guest house to the main residence on a hill overlooking Carmel Valley.

One hundred eighty of the couple's family and close friends witnessed the rites.

Attendants were the bride's son by a former marriage, Alfred Lawrence Toombs, and the senator's son, Samuel, and daughter Francesca.

John Sharon, cousin of Senator Farr and lay leader of an Episcopal Church in Washington, D.C., offered a special prayer.

The wedding ring was designed by two of the groom's cousins, Mrs. Hamilton Brown and Dr. Toland Doud.

The bride, known as "Dee" by friends, is a George Washington University graduate and attended Harvard University.

Fred Farr is a native Californian who graduated from UC and Boalt Hall Law School.

During his political career Farr was chiefly concerned with beautification throughout the country and preservation of scenic corridors. He resigned the job of highway beautification coordinator to become an unsuccessful candidate this year for the Assembly. He now practices law here.

The couple met in Washington while the former senator was coordinator for beautification in the Federal Highway Administration.

Pacific Grove, Mrs. Manuel Rivera of San Rafael and the late William E. Cordero of Monterey.

The couple are both Pacific Grove High School graduates now attending MPC. Malcolm is employed at Thrifty Drug Stores, Inc., and his fiancee works at J.C. Penney Co.

The Carmel Pine Cone-Cymbal 5

Jeanette Mary Wilhoit wed at Carmel Mission

With the Rev. Felix Migliazzo officiating, Jeanette Mary Wilhoit and Gregory David Sobodash were married in an afternoon ceremony, Nov. 22, at the Carmel Mission Basilica.

The new Mrs. Sobodash is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Woods Wilhoit of Carmel Highlands. Her husband's parents are Mrs. Benjamin De Mattia of Monterey and Mr. Charles Sobodash of Detroit, Mich.

The bride's full length Victorian style gown of candlelight peau de soie was edged with guipure lace and interwoven with velvet ribbon. A camelot cap of tiny flowers held her full length veil of English silk scattered with pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of roses, baby's breath and blue delphiniums.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Mrs. William A. Giggy and her sister-in-law Mrs. Douglas Woods Wilhoit Jr. were her attendants.

Best man duties were performed by David Craigen of Paradise, Calif. Ushers were D.W. Wilhoit Jr., William R. Giggy, and Brian De Mztia.

Flower girls were Marit McHugh and Molly Hobin. Junior flower girl was the bride's two year old niece, Carolyn Louise Giggy. Billy Hobin was ring bearer and Mimi McHugh carried the flower petal basket.

The reception which followed the ceremony was held at the Pine Inn.

A graduate of Lincoln High School in Stockton, the former Miss Wilhoit is now attending MPC.

Mr. Sobodash, a Monterey High School graduate, is also a student at MPC.

After a honeymoon in Southern California, the newlyweds will make their first home in Pacific Grove.

The passing times, the changing scene... Mason's is sold...

Mason's, at Sixth and Dolores streets was sold last week by Margaret Mason to Mr. and Mrs. David Hughes.

Her ownership dates to 1952 when she and her first husband, Robert Mason, purchased the shop, then known as Balzer's.

After his death she ran the business alone for a number of years until her marriage to Nicholas Kovacevich when it again became a husband and wife operation.

The Hugheses also have the Cinderella Shop at Ocean and Dolores, which they purchased last April from Helen Lightner Dean.

Mason's will continue under the old name until remodeling is carried out with a rustic barn theme, and the new stock of sportswear is completed. It will then be known as Cinderella's Hayloft and will carry such well known labels as Haymaker, Garland, John Meyer of Norwich and Lady Manhattan.

Moderately priced clothes for the younger woman will be featured. The Cinderella Shop on Ocean caters to the more sophisticated woman shopper, and carries a fashion list of dresses, coats, and suits.

Mary and David Hughes have been longtime visitors to the Monterey Peninsula before establishing residence here last spring.

He is a graduate of UCLA and has an extensive career in merchandising already behind him.

Former posts include the management of I. Magnin's Seattle store, and vice presidencies with Neiman Marcus of Dallas and of the Peck & Peck stores.

During his years with Neiman Marcus, two were spent headquartered in Italy where he was charged with European purchasing. The family, a threesome with young John, lived in a fifteenth century villa in Florence.

Now 14, John attends Carmel Middle School. Another son, Peter, is a resident of New York and was a recent visitor with his family at his parents' Carmel Woods home.

The Hugheses have been much occupied with planning for their new shops, but during spare time, he enjoys painting and Mrs. Hughes, a gourmet cook, has been discovering such things as the local artichokes and the delicacies of Fisherman's Wharf. Already, they have become participating residents of the Peninsula and are "here to stay".

Treat credit cards same as cash, says Crocker-Citizens

Failure to treat your credit cards with the same respect you give cash could lead to a serious — and costly — mistake.

That's because some crooks, who specialize in the finer points of credit card fraud, are willing to pay $500 for a major credit card if you let it get stolen or lose it.

James L. Reed, director of Master Charge card security at Crocker-Citizens National Bank and the authority for these statements, say some 50 million credit cards — not counting gasoline company cards and department store charge-a-plates — will be in the wallets and purses of the nation's consumer by year's end.

To minimize the dollar amount of fraud and the inconvenience to card holders, the Crocker-Citizens security chief suggests six "don'ts" for all credit card users:

(1) Never leave your wallet — and credit cards — in the glove compartment during an outing to the beach, lake or ski slope. Lock valuables in the trunk, or take them with you.

(2) Never show off your credit card "collection," especially in strange surroundings. You wouldn't flash cash would you?

(3) Never leave your credit cards on top of a bureau or in a drawer, whether you're at home or traveling.

(4) Never leave your wallet in your coat at the office, especially if the cloakroom is out of your sight. Ladies should mind their purses.

(5) Never lose track of your card at a restaurant, service station, or any other establishment that honors cards. Many are absent-mindedly lost in this manner.

(6) Never leave expired cards around the home or office. Instead thoroughly destroy them, making sure to cut through the numbers on the card.

Reed suggests that all credit card holders record the numbers of their cards and keep them, along with the address of the issuing organization, in a safe place. If a card is lost or stolen the first step is to notify the police immediately.

San Simeon computerizes

Beginning Jan 5, visitors to Hearst San Simeon State Historical Monument will be able to make tour reservations in much the same way they make reservations to state park campgrounds or to theater and sporting events — via a computer.

The new service is being provided by the Computicket Corporation, and through its outlets in major population centers around the state the public will be able to make direct, paid, confirmed reservations for any one of the three tours available at the state monument.

Individual or small group reservation requests may also be handled by mail through the Department of Parks and Recreation, P.O. Box 2390, Sacramento

ACLU opens Complaint Center

A civil Liberties Complaint Center is opened Nov. 26 on the Monterey Peninsula.

The Center has been established by the Monterey Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union and will provide people who believe their constitutional rights have been violated a place to record their complaints.

The Center will be manned by volunteers who will receive telephone calls in their homes directed to them by a telephone answering service.

The complaining person will describe his problem to the volunteer who will take down the information on forms provided him by the ACLU. Experience indicates that many of the problems will not be civil liberties issues, so the person may be referred to one of the many helping agencies listed in the reference material provided the volunteers. Those cases which involve civil liberties issues will be referred to attorneys who have volunteered to act as back-up persons.

The opening of the Complaint Center on the Monterey Peninsula follows the successful establishment of similar centers in other parts of the country.

The ACLU Complaint Center will be open day and night and the number to call is 375-2281.

Skydiving show Saturday

As part of the activities attendant to the showing of the motion picture "The Gypsy Moths" at the Valley Cinema, a skydiving exhibition by two men and women will take place Saturday afternoon at the Mid-Valley Shopping Center, location of the theater.

One of the jumpers will be Jerry Rouillard, of Carmel.

During the filming of "The Gypsy Moths," he was personal coach to star Burt Lancaster, appeared in the film and made 125 jumps during the shooting.

Altogether, Rouillard has logged 1450 jumps.

Movie Review

FANNY HILL — An updated Swedish version of John Cleland's classic novel. Now set in Stockholm the film stars Dinan Kjaer in the title role. At the Steinbeck.

STAR! — Julie Andrews, director Robert Wise and producer Saul Chaplin team up on this, and although it's no "Sound of Music," which all three worked on previously, Star! is good theater. With Richard Crenna, Michael Craig and Daniel Massey. At the Village.

2001 — A Space Odyssey — Some of the greatest process photography ever brought to the screen is in this top production of the history of Man. Returning to Cinema 70, this film has played to packed houses everywhere.

The Night They Raided Minsky's — A raucous replay of the broad comic world of burlesque, featuring a naive farm girl's inadvertent invention of the strip tease. Stars Bert Lahr (true, inspired type casting), Jason Robards, Forrest Tucker. At the Village.

The Dirty Dozen — Twelve soldiers convicted of major crimes are offered the chance to clear their records by participating in a mission deep in Nazi-held France. Lee Marvin, Jim Brown, Charles Bronson head an all star cast. At the Valley Cinema.

Romeo and Juliet — This tender, sensitively acted film won Academy Awards and top honors at film festivals. Juliet was 14 when Shakespear's tragedy took place, Olivia Hussey was 15 when the film was made, Leonard Whiting as Romeo was only 17. Their performances are outstanding. At the Grove.

DeSade — Based on the life of notorious Marquis de Sade, this stars Keir Dullea in the title role, and Senta Berger as the girl who "turns on" the hedonistic marquis. At the Hill.

Guns of the Magnificent Seven — A sequel to "The Magnificent Seven" and also deals with the Mexican revolution. George Kennedy has been added to the group. At the State.

Krakatoa, East of Java — Maximilian Shell, Diane Baker, Brian Keith, Sal Mineo, Barbara Werle, and Rossano Brazzi in a volcanic story about a volcano. Sunken treasure and all that stuff added. At the State.

I Love You, Alice B. Toklas — A lot of great actors gang up to produce this hilarious commentary on today's mores. Peter Sellers is the Jewish lawyer who gets involved with a flower child. The results are sidesplitting. At the Golden Bough.

The Gypsy Moths — Burt Lancaster and Deborah Kerr in a thrilling story about sky divers who do it for a living. Magnificent skydiving sequences background the film. Technical direction by Jerry Rouillard of Carmel, who made 125 dives himself during the filming. At the Valley.

Someone Waiting — At the Circle Theater. Skullduggery and skulking about in the best tradition of the suspense play. Revenge, hate and comedy all mixed about to produce a funny, terrifying evening with a topnotch cast headed by Roy Baxter and Gertrude Chappell. Better make reservations by calling 624-2669.

Black Comedy — at the Studio Theater. A comedy of confusion in which a conniving couple stage a luckless hoax on her stuffy father. Adding to their confusion is a power failure skillfully directed by Bill Asp. Edie Donahoe, and Richard Klein play the hapless couple with George Smith as the girl's stodgy father. Better make reservations by calling 624-1661 or 624-2321.

Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin, Thorneburg, City Librarian

Who wants to be serious during the holiday season?

You want to know about Christmas books? No use. They are all on top of the card catalog near the back door. Browse a little.

So this week we are talking about mysteries, and we don't mean mysteries like why are we spending millions of dollars to send rock pickers to the moon, we mean mysteries like who-shot-Aunt-Clara-she-never-harmed-a-soul-in-her-life!

The publishing firm of William Morrow and Co. have a reputation for good mysteries and this week we have two new ones which they published. The first one is Darkest Hour by Helen Nielsen.

The scene is San Diego, where three violent deaths in as many days, caused lawyer Simon Drake to team up with his friend Hannah Lee in an investigation. This is familiar territory, California that is, which always seems to give an immediacy to any plot. No solution can be mentioned here. Just the framework, which is three bodies and two investigators at work.

The other Morrow publication is by Youngman Carter.

His wife was Margery Allingham, who wrote the stories about detective Albert Campion. After her death her husband finished the book she was working on and did such a good job of it that few of her enthusiastic readers could tell which part she had done and which part he had contributed. For this reason the reviews were great, so here is Mr. Carter with a new Albert Campion book entitled Mr. Campion's Farthing.

And finally, we have The Spy Who Wasn't Exchanged, by Alfred Tack. This one will make you oblivious even to your favorite television program, because it's a cliff-hanger.

A happy New Year to all of you from all of us!

As the title indicates, this is laid in England, where a certain eminent scientist has disappeared. Mr. Campion sets out to learn just what happened, and so do the Russians, who had a specific interest in the case.

International intrigue in this one!

Back to our ever-lovin' California for the next one, which is Silent Partner by Leigh Brackett.

It seems that Tony Wales was a silent partner in an importing firm with his office in southern California. He really had little to do until he was ordered to the Mideast to learn why another partner had been pushed to his death from the balcony of his hotel. And from that time on, there were places and people with romantic names, beautiful women, dare devil situations, knives, and guns galore.

It really is an exciting book, and well written.

Mystery fans know Anthony Gilbert and we now have his latest, which is called Missing From Her Home.

It involves two murders, one of a young child, and the other of an aged recluse, the two classes of persons least able to defend themselves.

Investigator Arthur Crook solves the mystery and once again proves the truth of his motto "Your worry, our opportunity."

And finally, we have The Spy Who Wasn't Exchanged, by Alfred Tack. This one will make you oblivious even to your favorite television program, because it's a cliff-hanger.

A happy New Year to all of you from all of us!

Andre's Around

By Alda Jorstad

USUALLY A MAN with nine kids is more satisfied than a man with a million dollars — a man with a million dollars wants more... A male acquaintance of mine once advertised for a wife; 27 guys wrote in and offered him theirs!

Gals, your husbands (and boy friends) will never want to give you up when they see you with a smart new hair-do created by the stylists at the incomparable Andre's Beauty Salon, Monterey's popular style center. Here you'll find five trained operators to serve you — Jennie, Sharon, Patty Jo, Erna and Pat. Each is a hair styling expert. Here is truly a "one-stop top shop" featuring cutting, styling, permanents, frosting, shampoo, sets, even manicuring. Hair conditioning and scalp treatments a specialty. Andre's is open 7 days a week, 8:30 - 5:30, also Thursday evenings by appointment. Phone 372-3133. It's "styles with a flair for women who care" at Andre's Beauty Salon, Del Monte Center (near Lucky's). Ample free parking always. Master Charge cards honored.

'Do artists like to eat...but YES'

There comes a time when the editorial WE turns into something more personal. For the moment I will tell about my cousins Mary and Jon.

It is all quite apropos since both are true young Carmelites, going through all grades of Sunset, Carmel High and M.P.C. together. Yes, they were married at All Saints' in Carmel.

Jon Elber's grandfather founded Reamer's, now known as Carmel Point. Mary's grandfather, Colonel Graham, veteran of the Spanish-American War, retired in our midst. So much for Mary and Jon's ancestors, Carmel-wise.

Another reason is that Mary was Society Editor of The Carmel Pine Cone-Cymbal just about three years ago.

Nathaniel, now a vigorous two-ager, prevented his mother from climbing all those stairs up to the editor's office.

So Mary turned to home work. Such as batik, executed after the Indonesian manner, but with Mary & Jon's own technique.

Should I be proud that their efforts will be exhibited at the forthcoming "39 Craftsmen bring Christmas" next door to me, at La Playa?

In fact many of Mary & Jon's originals were created right here in my home while I was wandering around Delmarva. In this time of abbreviations, that means, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia . . . all happily joined separately.

As the preview at La Playa takes place on Friday Dec. 5, with a Wild Boar & Wine Buffet, it seems fitting to bring forth a few dishes containing some of each.

This does not signify that La Playa will serve what now follows, but you could!

From the Stuyvesant Fish Rancho Palo Corona here is all you need to know about a boar:

Palo Corona Suckling Boar

(Makes 24 servings)

Whole 30 lb. boar piglet; 6 t. salt; 1 t. pepper; 1 t. garlic salt; 1 lb. green onions, tops included; 2 lbs. yellow apples; large red apple for garnish.

It will take two days to thaw the frozen cleaned boar. For those who are not so fortunate to have a suckling wild boar from the Stuyvesant Fish Rancho Palo Corona, ask your meat man to prepare a whole sucking pig.

Fill the boar's cavities with dry red wine until cooking time. Then drain and rub inside with half the salt, pepper and garlic salt, saving the rest for the outside of piglet. Stuff insides with chopped green onions and halved cored green apples (unpeeled).

Using metal skewers, truss cavity with heavy cord or wire. Place piglet on spit 6 feet long. Fasten securely to spit with cord or wire

PARTY PLANS

by Phyllis Jersey

wound around piglet. Place over pit containing a layer of oakwood topped with charcoal briquets. Add a scattering of bay leaves for fragrance.

Start spit so it revolves in front of coals. Drippings won't be wasted in the fire since you'll have a drip pan to catch those precious juices.

Baste frequently, using a large stalk of celery with its foliage as a "mop." Before cooking, crush foil to make a firm ball and place in piglet's mouth to keep it open.

Cover ears with foil. Start testing after 3 hours, but it is more than likely it will take twice that time. The meat must be well done, succulent and the outer layer crackling brown.

Before carving, place a large polished red apple in piglet's mouth. Use marachino cherries for eyes.

Basting Sauce: Two-thirds cups, each, red wine vinegar and fresh lemon juice combined; 1 cup peanut or sesame oil; 3 garlic cloves, mashed; 1 t. salt; 1 T. soya sauce; grated peppercorns and nutmeg.

These directions stem from Joe Zoellin whose father owns the Drive In Market right next to The Pine Cone. They also were raised in Carmel and Mrs. Zoellin's mother always serves her own version of Carmelo beans with the wild boar. If the beans become too dry as they rest on the edge of the barbecue, this ingenious great grandmother quickly snatches a can of beer from her astonished son-in-law and pours it over the beans so they won't scorch.

Although Evelyn Zoellin says she doesn't know her mother's exact measurements, she told us to put the packaged pinto (pink) beans into cold water. Bring these to a slow boil, reduce to simmer with cut-up salt pork, green peppers and garlic. Cook gently until beans are soft but not broken. Salt is then added to taste, but not before. A bit of beer too!

Whopping Carmel Salad

Supply a generous variety of Carmel Valley lettuce greens such as red, butter and romaine broken with ones fingers into large bite-size. Add raw spinach and watercress sprigs, chives, green onion and parsley in medium amounts. Put into plastic bags and refrigerate until serving.

Oriental Dressing: Three cups salad oil; 1 t. paprika; 1 t. dry mustard; 2 cloves crushed garlic; salt, pepper and wine vinegar to taste; drained thinly sliced water chestnuts (canned); drained canned bamboo shoots; sesame seeds. Combine ingredients in jar with tightly fitting cover. Chill and at serving shake vigorously. At table pour over the fresh beautiful Carmel Valley greens . . . but do not drown. Toss and serve.

A board of different cheese wheels, hard crackers, fruits, nuts, coffee, beer, and of course, California wines!

You probably won't have this great sounding array on Dec. 5 when you go to La Playa, but there will be an exciting presentation of the Fine Arts and Crafts Festival on display Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, 5, 6, and 7 of December.

The public is invited to attend. Registration fee is $3.00 (students, $1.00), which includes luncheon, printed information and materials, and a summary of the symposium to be mailed to participants at a later date.

Reservations are suggested, and may be made by calling the medical society offices at 372-5251.

Peace Corps recruiters

Peace Corps recruiters are in the San Jose area for a two week effort to find almost 200 tradesmen and technicians to fill eight volunteer programs overseas, according to Glen Fishbach, Western Region director.

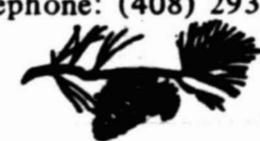

Fishbach said the applicants are needed between now and the end of the year for programs which begin training in the Spring. Program needs range from electricians, welders, machinists and auto mechanics in India to draftsmen, architects, civil engineers, hydrologists and vocational education teachers in Bolivia.

"If you're over 20 years of age, a citizen of the United States and have practical knowledge of a trade, you have a good chance of serving as a Peace Corps Volunteer as soon as three to five months from now," Fishbach said.

Fishbach said recruiters will work out of San Jose and will make periodic visits to Carmel, Monterey, Salinas and any and all cities and towns in the area where an interest in the Peace Corps is indicated between now and Friday, Dec. 12.

Walter Stern, a former Volunteer in Ecuador and Peace Corps Western Region deputy director, is in charge of the San Jose area recruiting drive. He can be contacted at the Peace Corps' San Jose office, 155 S. 1st St., San Jose 95113; telephone: (408) 293-1571.

Traveling Winter cruise

By JOANNE LOUISE NIX

If you're planning a winter vacation, take a tip from — and a trip inspired by — Christopher Columbus for 1969 has been officially proclaimed as the year in which to discover South America.

Beckoning tourists today are the exciting ports of call that will soon be visited by two luxury liners Columbus would have given anything to have had at his service, the S.S. BRASIL and the S.S. ARGENTINA.

Ultimate in devil-may-care luxury is the 50-day cruise the ARGENTINA, America's newest luxury liner, will make to nine countries and 17 ports on both coasts of South America, and to three Caribbean islands.

The floating ship-hotel will leave New York and Port Everglades, Fla., to visit La Guaira, Venezuela, where Bolivar, the Liberator, was born; the former pirate stronghold near Lima, Peru; and the volcanic island of Kingstown, St. Vincent, discovered by Columbus in 1498.

Bahia, Salvador, with streets dating back to 1549, and Cartagena, Columbia, used as an escape route in the days of the Spanish

Main, are also included in the score of ports of historic interest.

Scholarly though the cruises may sound, the emphasis will be on what officials of the Moore-McCormack Lines describe as "the three R's" resting, relaxing and recharging one's batteries.

To this end, passengers will be pampered with the finest food and accommodations — swimming pools, lounges, cafes, nightclubs, library, wide screen theater, snack bars and gymnasias. Presumably the latter will enable guests to work off the pounds put on elsewhere aboard the ship.

Practical Columbus, however, would have been most envious of the ships' gyroscopically-controlled fin stabilizers and advanced hull design, enabling the liners to sail smoothly in the roughest of seas.

His crew would have delighted in the air-conditioning built-in to each cabin so occupants can "dial" their own choice of sea-washed air at any desired temperature.

Consumer Power

By Yvonne Earnst

Although Thanksgiving is just barely past, advertising of Christmas toys has already started. Soon, children will be writing letters to Santa Claus, and parents and grandparents will be planning to fill the television-inspired requests. Too many will over-extend their budgets to do so.

Whether or not we feel Christmas is becoming too commercialized, we must at least recognize that whatever we show our children by our actions at Christmas is what they will learn and do themselves. If we buy stacks of gimmick-ridden toys to put under the Christmas tree, we teach them to expect this of Christmas — and, maybe of life.

If our children learn that they can probably have anything they see advertised, they will surely become teenagers who must own everything new on the market, and, eventually, newlyweds who must furnish their homes the first year they are married — with everything new, of course. The vicious cycle of "desire, buy, broke" is set in motion very early in life.

Do we buy our children hordes of toys every Christmas to somehow make up for what we feel we missed? Perhaps we are fulfilling our own needs rather than those of the children. And perhaps we should be passing along more of what we had rather than what we missed. Memories and family traditions can be valuable gifts.

Do we buy all those toys to show our children how much we love them? Any psychologist will tell us that children are intuitively too smart to believe that. Such actions are substitutes for real love, which involves giving of oneself. Giving things is just not the same as giving love.

The closest we can come to that is to give gifts that we have made with our own hands — a good thing for children to learn to do, too.

Then, what is the proper emphasis to place on Christmas toys? Are toys important? Oh, yes, they are, but it is the quality rather than the volume that is important. Toys are tools for play, and play is practice for living. Toys should help children grow — exercising their imaginations, their bodies and their feelings.

A famous educator says this:

"In play, the youngster himself is in charge. He has something on his mind, and he carries it out — in words; in paint; in sand; with water; with dolls, cars, airplanes and boats; in make-believe; alone or with his friends; indoors or out.

"He has the ideas — a whole flood of them. Ideas do not have to check out with reality. That is for a later time in life. Right now, ideas are good because they are the child's ideas, his own. Play turns these good ideas loose."

"Many specific strengths develop through play. Language grows; attention spans lengthen; coordination improves; give-and-take becomes easier; intellectual understanding becomes clearer; there is constant practice in problem solving. These are all-important."

Perhaps a good scale to use, then, when weighing the worth of a toy would be, "How well does it allow the child to apply his own ideas?"

Every way we turn today, there are toys that perform in some way — but very few that allow the child to perform. Is this what we want? Will our children learn from these toys that they are always to be entertained, and will never have to entertain themselves? Will they know how — without practice?

And, if play is indeed practice for living, are war toys practice for killing? Some argue, "yes," others, "no." On which side are you betting?

And are Barbie dolls the ideals for our little girls to imitate? If so, we may find ourselves stuck with some quite real and grown-up Barbie "dolls" soon. Wouldn't it be better for them to grow up proud to be individuals rather than look-alikes and think-alikes?

The toy market is the way it is today because this is what the manufacturers think we want. If this is not what we want, we have to say so — with our buying power and with letters to the toy companies. If we don't like the type and quality of toys on the market today, it is up to us as consumers to do something about it.

Next week, we will have suggestions for Christmas toys this year. Since the kinds of toys we will be discussing are hard to find in most stores, perhaps you would like to send for a catalog from Creative Playthings, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. They specialize in the kinds of toys that will be suggested to you.

Watercolors by Dorothy Bigger and Maxine White, carvings by Alex Weygers at Seaside City Hall

During December the Seaside city hall gallery will exhibit watercolors by Dorothy Bigger and Maxine White.

Mrs. Bigger, with a background of endeavors and awards in other media, having painted on location throughout the United States and in Europe, studied under a number of Monterey Peninsula artists including Nancy Johnson and Keith Lindberg in Carmel and in the workshops of Rex Brandt, Jade Fon, Alexander Napote and others.

Her watercolors have been displayed locally and hung in juried shows at Delta, Lodi, San Juan Bautista, Statewide Competition at Santa Cruz, Pacific Grove Museum and others where she has been presented numerous awards.

Maxine White, a native of Missouri began her early art training after moving to California, studying with Nora Southwell in Santa Barbara. Later, coming to the Monterey Peninsula, she continued her studies with many fine local and other California watercolorists, studying most recently with Rex Brandt at his school in southern California. Mrs. White has hung in many juried shows in Stockton and the Monterey area and has a continuing exhibit at the business offices of Cypress Motors in Monterey.

In the display cases there will be an educationally oriented exhibit featuring Alexander Weygers' stone and wood carvings, wood engravings, handforged tools, and many other facets bearing on the study of sculpture as well as on the making of a well rounded artist. Born in Java, educated in Holland as an engineer, Mr. Weygers has worked in fine arts for the last 37 years in Indonesia, Holland, Paris, Italy, Chicago, and California. He introduced artography, art in photography, in 1957.

The show can be seen Monday through Friday from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 at the Seaside City Hall gallery.

The Salinas Union High School will present its choral group in a program of Christmas songs at the Dec. 10 luncheon of the Monterey Division of the California Retired Teachers' Association.

This meeting will be held at the Salinas Elks' Lodge, 614 Airport Boulevard, at 12:50 p.m.

All retired teachers and their guests are invited to attend. Reservations should be made by Dec. 6 with Mrs. James Walker, 424-6566 (Salinas).

Members are reminded to bring cookies for the servicemen's cookie jar at the USO.

Fremier speaks to Marina Lions

Roger Fremier, Pine Cone photographer and MPC instructor, spoke before the Marina Lions Club Wednesday on one of his favorite topics — Creative Decision Making.

His appearance was part of the Monterey Peninsula College Speakers Directory.

Fremier received a scholarship from the Creative Education Foundation in New York and has taught subjects relating to this at Carmel Adult School, as well as teaching business at MPC.

Grandpa (Sheldon Margolis) hears the circus in the wind while looking for Johnnie.

And Grandma (Dianne Wellmann) a sprightly grandmother, finds it necessary to follow the circus in search of her two boys.

DDT film for

Ventana group

Conservation Group Members will meet in Brey Hall at Carmel High School on Dec. 11 to view a 30-minute film on DDT.

Steve Rosen and Darrell Salk were able to complete this color and sound film for its first showing at the Los Angeles conference of State Governors on Nov. 14-16.

The film vividly portrays the damage DDT has done and is doing to the food chain, and its effects on fish, birds, and mammals, including people.

The public is cordially invited to attend this free, but important meeting of the Conservation Group of the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club.

'The Bible' in special Carmel showing

Directed by John Huston, with a screenplay by Christopher Fry, "The Bible" is the first film to tell in continuous sequence the stories of The Creation, Adam and Eve, Cain and Abel, Noah and the flood, The Tower or Babel, the Destruction of Sodom and the Saga of Abraham.

In bringing the Bible to the screen, Producer De Laurentiis, Huston and Fry were determined from the outset to avoid set patterns of past Biblical films that were conceived only with isolated stories.

The special holiday showing of "The Bible" will be presented at Carmel Village Theatre Dolores and Seventh St., Mon., and Tues., Dec. 14, 15 and 16. Special group discount rates are available by contacting Lynn Pearson or Tom Graff at 624-5740, 624-5342 or 624-4226.

This film is recommended for the entire family by leading publications across the United States.

Scholarship deadline nears

The California State Scholarship and Loan Commission reminds high school seniors and college students that the postmark deadline date for the filing of California State Scholarship applications is Dec. 10, 1969.

Jewel Originals

Sometimes it's nice to be different; to do or own something that sets you apart from the crowd. When this takes the form of a special jewelry accessory, it is equally nice to know that the pleasure and value will be a lasting joy to you and generations to come. We will be happy to create a special design for you alone, using either new gems of your choice, or those from your present pieces. The cost may be less than you think for what can become your very own "signature in gems." Stop in soon and let us develop a sketch or two for your approval.

Punch and Judy show to be feature of MPMA opening

"The Devil with his pitchfork fought,
While Punch had but a stick, Sir,
But killed the Devil as he ought.
Huzza! there's no Old Nick, Sir!"

So closes the Collier version of the celebrated "Punch and Judy" show, a version of which will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Winans of Carmel Valley, on Saturday, Dec. 6, at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, 559 Pacific Street, Monterey.

It will be shown during "Children's Day" as part of the 3-day "Festival of the Trees," Dec. 5-7, the museum's first big public event at their new headquarters.

The puppet shows are scheduled for 11 a.m., 1, 3 and 4:30 p.m.

There also will be children's door prizes and a children's booth, stocked with gifts made by museum members, under the direction of Mrs. John H. Nail, chairman of the Children's Day activities. All children are invited to attend this fun-filled

"Sugar-plum Party." Donation will be $1.50 cents for children under six. Hours will be 1 - til 6 on Saturday.

The "Punch and Judy" Show, which runs about 40 minutes, originated in Italy in the 17th Century, having been adapted from a popular Italian opera, ("La Trappolaria" by J.B. della Porta) and soon became a worldwide favorite of children, being performed primarily at Christmas time in museums and at church socials. The Winans have designed their puppets and staging after the drawings of Cruikshank, to gain delightful authenticity.

Tickets to "Punch and Judy" will be on sale at the door only, on Saturday, Dec. 6. Girl Scout Troop 2034 will usher throughout the day.

The Sugar Plum Fairy will be on hand to delight the children and pass out favors.

Scouts need staff for summer camp

Each summer the Monterey Bay Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, operates its Pico Blanco Scout Reservation for the benefit of the 4,000 Scouts and Explorers of the council. To operate the camp, a staff of 25 young adults must be recruited to provide counseling and training for the Scouts who attend the camp.

Applications are now being accepted from young men 15 years of age and older who have a strong desire to serve their fellow men in a meaningful manner. Applicants must be registered members of the Boy Scouts of America, in good health, proficient in two or more Scouting skills, of good character and available from June 28, 1970 to August 22, 1970.

Positions to be filled are in aquatics, nature, Scoutcraft, trading post, archery, dining hall, kitchen, and maintenance.

Interested applicant should apply to the Scout Service Center, 55 San Joaquin Street, Salinas; or write to Monterey Bar Area Council, P.O. Box 1967, Salinas, Ca., 93901 for applications.

Seventh-day Adventist schools.

Dr. Hirsch, who is secretary for the denomination's worldwide educational system, warns Christian parents that since the exposure is ever present, they should be concerned with what kind of sex education their children are receiving.

To obtain the opinion of those supporting the church's educational program, a committee prepared and distributed a questionnaire to a cross section of the church's members. Of the 1,243 persons who responded, 86 percent felt that home and family-life education should be taught in Seventh-day Adventist schools.

Ninety-five percent of the respondents believed that the school should not be solely responsible for this type of education, but recognized the role of the parent as being equally important. They suggested that a parent education program be carried on simultaneously with that for the children for the benefit of parents who lack knowledge and the technique for discussing the subject with their children.

The committee further reported that although 28 percent of the respondents felt the subject should be taught only by medical personnel, 65 percent said, "No." Eighty-three percent agreed that such instruction should be a part of, and correlated with, other classes such as health, science social studies, or physical education.

MPC drops opener, 58-54 in pre-season basketball play

By Marc Hinckley

The Monterey Peninsula College basketball team opened the 1969-70 cage season last Friday night with a 58-54 overtime loss to visiting Skyline College. The following evening the Lobos dropped a similar 68-62 close decision to Solano College in Vallejo. MPC went after its first victory of the season Tuesday night when it hosted Canada College.

In the Skyline game, the Lobos trailed throughout the first half but fought back in the second 20 minutes to overtake the visitors.

However, Skyline managed to stage its own comeback and tied up the contest in the waning

Forest Service job openings

Applications for employment with the U.S. Forest Service in the following kinds of positions are currently being accepted by the Civil Service Commission: Fire Control Aid, Supervisory Fire Control Aid, Tank Truck Operator, and Fire Prevention Technician.

These positions range in salary from $4917 to $6176 per year.

No written test is required for any of these jobs, but most require previous experience in forestry and fire control work. Interested applicants should consult the examination announcement for specific information about the requirements.

Copies of the announcement and applications for the positions are available at Federal Job Information Centers in Sacramento, San Francisco, San Diego, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, and Reno, Nevada.

All applications should be sent to the Sacramento Interagency Board, 455 Capitol Mall, Suite 125, Sacramento, California 95814.

minutes. In the ensuing five minute overtime period, SJC was able to sink four points while holding the Lobos without a bucket.

Topping all scorers was Skyline forward Dick Young, who netted 21 points. High man for the Lobos was forward Nick Turner with 12 markers. Buz McClay added 9 points and Dave Stewart 8 for the Montereyans.

Against Solano, the Lobos were again able to surge into the lead in the second half only to relinquish it in the game's final moments. McClay was instrumental in the MPC charge, hitting all of his 16 points in the second half.

In the final analysis it was the fine balance of the Solano squad which proved the difference. Four of the five Falcon starters scored in double figures. Leading the way were John Bohanon and Jim Roemich with 17 and 16 points, respectively.

Lobo Coach Larry Cummins has not been discouraged by the two losses.

New Lions Club

Lions Club District Governor Claris Burns, along with his Cabinet Secretary Robert D. Chapman were visitors to the newly formed Mission 200 Lions Club on Nov. 25.

The meeting took place at the Mission Ranch in the Barn Dining Room.

Those attending from the sponsoring Marina Club were John Wilson, Lion president and Clarence Burgess. Leroy Thomas, newly elected Mission 200 president, presided.

One of the first projects for the new club is helping the Carmel Youth Center. Members of the club assisted director Lion Jack Giles in cutting and selling wood to raise funds.

Business meeting nights are the second and fourth Tuesdays in the month, while game nights are the first and third Tuesdays.

Lobos land 7 on All-Coast

By Marc Hinckley

Champion Hartnell College and runnerup Monterey Peninsula College dominated the Coast (JC) All-Conference team chosen two weeks ago. The Lobos and Panthers landed 15 players on the 25 man "dream team."

In addition, four MPC players were given honorable mention in the voting.

The all-league offensive squad included four Lobos: tackle Dennis Welch, end Bill Stowers, quarterback

Dave Stewart (who shared honors with Hartnell QB Jim Erickson), and fullback Brad Kight.

On the defensive unit the Lobos placed end Crosby Anderson, linebacker Sandy McFarland and safety Dan Hoffman. Honorable mentioned were offensive guard Troy Spindler, defensive tackle Charlie Smith, linebacker Paul Paquin and defensive halfback Alva Wright. All are sophomores except for Wright.

In today's market, top-quality bonds carry the highest yields in this century!

High grade corporate bonds are currently available at yields approaching 9%.

These are top-quality issues...backed by some of the largest and financially strongest corporations in this country. And most of them are protected for up to five years against a call for refunding at lower interest rates.

There is also a wide choice of municipal bonds returning close to 7%, tax-free. Many of these bonds are non-callable for 10 years or more. Their tax advantages make them especially attractive for investors who are in higher income brackets.

Historically, this combination of high bond yields plus high quality has been rare. Clearly, you owe it to yourself to look into the possibility of making these high-grade, high-yielding bonds a part of your investment strategy.

Counseling Clinic Opens

The Counseling Clinic has officially opened its doors to the people of the Central Coast Area at the Parkway Medical Building, 100 San Miguel Avenue, Salinas, after several months of preparation and planning. On Nov. 1, staffing was completed by the addition of a new member, Joanne Lambeth, who is director of learning and reading skills.

The Clinic was originally formed by a group of concerned professionals who met repeatedly in Salinas and Pacific Grove to discuss ways in which they could help meet the growing emotional and psychological needs in the community. Diagnostic and preventative treatment was emphasized and crisis-centered therapy considered essential.

The Counseling Clinic is now providing a new service to the communities of this area by making available counselors who are trained and educated in a diversity of disciplines and experience. The Center is staffed by California State licensed and registered Marriage, Family and Child counselors. They are prepared to work with people in individual therapy in which the client relates to a one-to-one relationship with a professional therapist to find solutions to his personal problems, in group therapy in which people with problems help people with problems develop more insight and understanding about their life experiences, and in pre-marital and marital counseling in which couples are assisted in preparing for marriage, resolving crises which arise in marriage or adjusting to divorce in an orderly and realistic manner.

The members of the staff are also available for work with families in which communications have broken down and the members desire more meaningful and fulfilling ways to relate to each other; high school and young adults whose problems include goals and lack of goals, pressures to conform and drug and alcohol abuse; and children and youth who need an opportunity to attain inner strength to cope more successfully with their environment.

Learning and reading counseling and therapy is available in which individuals of all ages are provided with a better understanding of their abilities and given an opportunity to improve their study habits, comprehension, reading rate, vocabulary, pronunciation, language, listening, spelling and math skills on an individual or small group basis working at their own speed in a confidential setting.

A twenty-four hour crisis intervention service is available in which individuals or groups who are facing a situation which may lead to suicide, police action or hospitalization may seek help and care.

Telephone numbers for the center are 758-3884 or 372-2564.

Our Men In Service

Every month a large, wooden two-story building at 100 Lighthouse Avenue, Monterey, weighs anchor and sails out to sea.

The building — better known as the Naval Reserve Training Center — is completely furnished with a mock ship's bridge, CIC (Combat Information Center) and other facilities designed to simulate actual shipboard equipment.

"We're trying to make the training as challenging and realistic as possible," said Lt. Mike Flanigan, commanding officer of the training center. "Our primary job is to train our Naval Reserve to be ready in the event of mobilization."

Three Naval Reserve units are presently drilling at the Center: Military Training Division 12-3, Construction Battalion Sub Unit 12-17, and Surface Division 12-23. The Military Training Division is responsible for training enlisted personnel before they have gone on active duty; the Construction Battalion and Surface Division drill post-active-duty officers and enlisted personnel.

"Pay billets are available for officer and enlisted men who have completed their active duty requirements in either the reserve or regular forces of the United States Navy," added Lt. Flanigan. "Further information can be obtained by calling 372-0528."

Registration notices out

Thirteen million vehicle registration renewal notices were mailed to California motorists' mailboxes on or about the first of December. The computer has been printing them since early October.

Department of Motor Vehicles Director Verne Orr said this is the third consecutive year the cards are being delivered in early December instead of just before New Year's Day. "It spreads the renewal opportunity over two full months. If people take advantage of it they will save themselves trouble and the state will save a lot on money," he said.

Feb. 4, 1970, is the legal renewal deadline.

"Registration time is a time of trouble for countless vehicle owners," Orr declared. He said tens of thousands of notices will be returned to DMV — undeliverable because the vehicle owners have forgotten to notify both the department and the post office where they have moved.

Orr has this advice for recipients of renewal statements: "If you still have the vehicle, but anything on the statement no longer reflects the true situation, such as the owner's name or address or the identity of license number of the vehicle, bring the statement to the nearest DMV office with all documents that explain the discrepancy. Do this early.

If you accept the statement as correct, it can be mailed to DMV in Sacramento with your check or bank draft made out in the exact amount of the billing. Better yet, get in the express line at your local DMV office and walk out with your 1970 sticker."

The Army Security Agency is looking for qualified young men who are interested in becoming part of an elite organization which offers the finest in technical training and career opportunities.

The U.S. Army Security Agency (more commonly known as ASA) has an important role in our national defense effort. It is an agency of the Department of the army and has the mission of providing communication security in support of the U.S. Army. To fulfill its mission, ASA units are equipped with the latest developments in electronic equipment and are located throughout the world.

In order to satisfy the demands of its ever expanding mission, the U.S. Army Security Agency is required to maintain its own military schooling system in addition to utilizing other Department of Defense and U.S. Army service schools. Young men enlisting for duty with the U.S. Army Security Agency will be afforded the opportunity for training in languages, electronics, communications and other technical and administrative fields.

Young men interested in further details about the U.S. Army Security Agency are invited to call Sergeant Jose Garcia at 372-4742 or visit the local recruiting office at 431 Webster St. in Monterey.

Everyone wants to be home for Christmas, and the Army, through its "Operation Holiday," is doing something about it.

Any young man who enlists in the Army after Dec. 10 will be given leave for the holiday season, extending through New Years Day.

Upon enlistment, young men will be given their choice of training in any field for which they qualify, and have it guaranteed in writing by the Army.

After spending the holidays at home they will begin basic training.

Additional information about "Operation Holiday" or any of the Army's enlistment programs may be obtained from Sergeant Rick Flickinger, U.S. Army Recruiter at 43a Webster street in Monterey. Phone 372-4742.

Del Mesa Carmel birthday

One hundred and forty six of the residents at Del Mesa Carmel gathered for a cocktails-and-dinner party Thursday evening to celebrate their second anniversary.

During the get-together in Club Mesa's Redwood Room, Donald McLean, Del Mesa Carmel President, entertained the group with anecdotes of the popular adult-community.

Following dinner in the dining-room, the celebrants enjoyed birthday cake and coffee in the club lounge. A musical hour during which a number of talented Del Mesa Carmel residents entertained at the grand piano concluded the evening.

The festivities were organized by a committee of residents headed by Mrs. Alex W. Cleary, activities chairman for Del Mesa Carmel. The committee members were Mrs. Anthony G. Bruyaux, Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. George Cann, Mrs. Maurice Salisbury, Mrs. Donald Shoop, Mrs. William Ord Ryan and Mrs. Fred Naber.

The last three, in addition to Mrs. Slator Miller, Mrs. Vincent R. Bliss and Mrs. Julian Watkins, served as coffee hostesses under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bruyaux, who was also in charge of decorations.

ARE YOU FINDING HOME FINANCING TOUGH? Are you looking for a tidy home for a small family? Let us show you this comfortable 2 bedroom home in choice Hatton Fields which the owner will finance for you after a modest down payment. There are lovely trees on the large lot but you need not cultivate it all unless that's your thing. The patio is sunny and gives a splash of color for the whole house. At $29,500 you'll find it hard to beat. WE CAN'T!

HERE'S OPPORTUNITY WITHIN YOUR GRASP! Have you been looking for the chance to invest in land for appreciation and income during the process? We have an older home remodeled into 4 units plus a delightful apartment for the owner on a rare commercial lot in the heart of Carmel. No problem to find tenants — one stayed for 12 years! This SHOULD interest you and we'd be glad to arrange a showing.

ACQUIRE YOUR RETIREMENT HOME NOW, lease it and move in when you do retire. One of these should fit your requirements and your means:

Two-bedroom, one-bath, a split-level contemporary — Santa Rita and 3rd — $27,500.

The second is quite an unusual value up on Martin Road in Hatton Fields. It has two bedrooms, a den or third bedroom, two-car attached garage, paved turnaround driveway, an excellent view of Point Lobos, and the owners who are anxious to move to the Park Lane, will carry the First Trust Deed at 7%. Acquisition fee is just a little more than twice the value of the site — $55,000.

Involved in Living?

This is a home for the involved individual. An immaculate 3-bedroom (or 2-bedroom and den), 1-bath home on a corner lot. The large living room with fireplace has a dining area. New linoleum has been installed in the kitchen and back porch areas. The oversized 2-car garage has 2 additional rooms attached (complete with roughed-in plumbing) which would be ideal for a workshop area or extra guest accommodations. The yard is ideal for the busy individual involved with "living." It has been completely paved with no garden to hassle with — ideal for specialized container gardening. The $28,500 price tag makes this one of the true bargains on today's market.

CARMEL'S BEST BUY — Charm! Charm! Charm! An attractive and immaculate two-bedroom home located on a quiet street close to town and the beach. The living room has an extra high beamed ceiling and a quaint used-brick fireplace that extends the full height. There is a sunny, separate dining room with French doors opening onto a brick patio, a remodeled kitchen (yellow and white) with brick-vinyl flooring and a new electric range with self-cleaning oven, and an added bonus for the teenager or artists . . . a separate, spacious studio. Attractive decking, fencing and planting all combine to make this one of the most charming small homes we have had to offer. Fairly priced at $33,500.

TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE! — A rare opportunity to acquire a two-unit property in a prime south of Ocean Ave. location just 3 blocks to the beach. The large older home has 4 bedrooms, 3½ baths, a country-style kitchen with new equipment and a 33' living room with ocean view. The second unit is a newer, charming, complete one-bedroom cottage . . . fireplace in the living room, plank floors rough wood interior, pleasant garden outlook. The value is here at $59,500 and liberal financing is available.

MISSION FIELDS SPECIALS — Priced for the young family. An interesting split-level 3-bedroom, 2-bath home with separate dining room for $35,500, and on an extra large site offering private and pleasant outlook a 3-bedroom, 2-bath home at $32,500.

What's In A Name?

"GERANIUM GATE"

Actually, there are 3 gates - the weathered rustic double entry on Scenic Drive, a beautiful wrought iron gate leading to the walled front courtyard, and an interesting gate of wide painted boards to the park-like bar-be-que area. Entrance gates are flanked by wind-swept cypress, the iron gate touches a fabulous rose each time it's opened, and the wonderful oak trees in the rear yard are your view over the garden gate. Geranium and other very Carmelish flowers set off the Mediterranean home with its separate guest apartment. The price is $89,500.

"SEA BIRD"

Perched on the high point of its seaside site, our Bird seems poised to fly across the beautiful little bay to Bird Rock on Pt. Lobos, its near neighbor. Only a year or so old, the architecture was designed to underscore this feeling and has lots of glass, yet the feeling is not of a "contemporary" styling. Expensive, and worth it. The price is $179,000.

"CASA DEL PUENTE"

What can one say about the perfect Carmel home? You see, it has and is everything. The best ocean front site in the Highlands, selected over 40 years ago when you had a choice. The old Spanish architecture, recently and lovingly remodeled and expanded. Meticulously maintained. Heated swimming pool. Beautiful landscaping. And, of course, "El Puente" - the bridge whose fascinating arched spans are lighted at night (so is the equally fascinating surf) to permit a long view up one of the loveliest canyons in the area. The price is $350,000.

"LA VENTANA"

Ventana means window, of course, and this traditional home is truly a window on the sea. But did you also know that the Spanish word can mean either of the sense of hearing and seeing as well? This is the property for both - see and hear and participate in the natural setting of two acres overlooking the sea in Carmel Highlands. The low $79,500 price will permit refurbishing to your own tastes.

"CASA PACIFICA"

The Pacific Ocean, seen in the distance from six miles high up in the Palo Colorado Canyon. A pacific setting for a timeless A-frame built of native stone and timbers in six acres of redwood forest with a paved county road right to the driveway. Follow the advice in that most delightful of musicals, The Fantasticks and "hide away in shadows from the tyranny of time" to write your novel or just love life. Price $59,500.

"ZELLA'S GROCERY"

Have you always wanted to grow your own vegetables in a sunny little garden and live in a rustic house on the banks of a year-round stream in a redwood and fern canyon about 14 miles down Coast from Carmel and be able to sell off a site or two to help pay for this bucolic bliss? Then Zella's Grocery is for you. (Zella's GROCERY? You'll have to ask Hank about that name.) Price $42,500.

Freeway opened thru K.C.

The four-lane freeway from King City to San Lucas was opened to traffic on Tuesday, Nov. 25, 1969.

This opening completes the four-lane portion from Wild Horse Interchange to the First Street Interchange in King City prior to expected heavy traffic of the holiday weekends.

The travelling public is warned to continue to drive with care throughout the project as final cleanup and completion of miscellaneous items of work will be continuing for several weeks. Granite Construction Company of Watsonville is the contractor on the 2.8 million dollar freeway project.

United Children's Fund famous artists offer talents free for UNICEF cards

UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund has been at work for years helping children and their mothers in war-torn or impoverished areas all over the world. In its early years following World War II, UNICEF supported many emergency feeding programs. Large quantities of milk powder and Vitamins A and D helped stave off malnutrition for millions. But it soon became apparent that the race with hunger could be run only with long-range planning.

The attack on hunger in any country must be part of an overall program of economic and social development. It would do little good for a country to increase its protein food production if the individual mother did not know the importance of putting those protein foods into her child's diet. It would be equally hopeless to knock on every door to educate individual householders in the basics of good nutrition. And the least likely prospect of all would be that UNICEF, with its very limited budget would be able to finance such projects to any effective degree.

But UNICEF doesn't work alone. In every country, there are people in government, in private agencies, professional people and volunteer groups, who want to help children. UNICEF's aim is to encourage their efforts by supplementing with international help the local resources, making them more effective.

For every dollar UNICEF allocates, the assisted government spends an average of two dollars and fifty cents of its own. In addition to more than doubling the available funds, this system assures that the project will help the receiving nation to help itself.

To do this, UNICEF itself needs help — your help. One of the ways you can make a very real contribution to the needy children of Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Middle East, is with the purchase of UNICEF Greeting Cards.

Designed by prominent artists of many countries, UNICEF Greeting Cards are lovely to look at, and demonstrate your concern for the children of today, who are the hope of tomorrow.

Social Security

by Raymond MacDonald

Q. I am 50 years old. For the past 2 years I've been receiving disability benefits based on my own work under Social Security. Since my husband died recently, I'm wondering if I'm eligible for disabled widow's benefits also.

A. You may be. It is possible to be eligible for benefits as a disabled worker and as a disabled widow at the same time. However, you cannot be paid by both benefits. You would be paid the higher of the two benefits. Keep in mind that the Social Security definition of disability for widows is somewhat different from that for workers. For this reason you may not be able to get benefits as a disabled widow even though you are eligible as a disabled worker. Get in touch with your Social Security office for specific information about your case.

Q. My only child is now over 18 and receiving benefits as a student. When he became 18, the Social Security wife's benefit I was receiving stopped. Why can't I receive benefits now?

A. Wife's benefits are payable under age 62 only if you are caring for a disabled child or one under 18. There is no provision for paying a wife's benefit solely on the basis of her caring for a child who is receiving benefits as a student.
